

After comparing the final web page in three different browsers, I noticed the following differences: Everything in Edge and Chrome looks almost identical. The fonts displayed in Edge and Chrome are similar, but the font weight in Firefox appears lighter than in the other two browsers. The colors in Firefox appear darker compared to Edge and Chrome.